El viento Norte y el Sol discutían sobre cuál de ellos era el más fuerte, cuando pasó un extraño viajero envuelto en unas ropas muy abrigadas. Convinieron en que quien antes lograra obligarlo al transeúnte a quitarse el abrigo sería considerado más poderoso. El viento sopló con gran furia, pero cuanto más soplaba, más se ceñía el hombre su ropa al cuerpo. Entonces se dio por vencido, y el sol empezó a brillar con mucha fuerza. Inmediatamente el viajero se despojó de su abrigo; y así ya quedó claro que el sol tenía superioridad respecto del viento.
